

Dear Parents and Carers,

On behalf of the Governing Board, I would like to share some important news.

Our Head teacher, Dr James Pullé, has announced his retirement with effect from 31st December 2022.

James has been with Wilmslow High School for 21 years, the last 8 years as Head teacher.

There will, I am sure, be many opportunities over the coming months to thank James for his distinguished commitment to, and leadership of, this school.

Attached is a letter from James in which he reflects briefly on his career journey and on just some of this school's achievements during his tenure as Head teacher and, before that, on the school's senior leadership team.

The governors now turn our attention to recruiting a worthy successor, someone who will lead our school community to future success while maintaining the exceptionally high standards of leadership to which we have become accustomed.

Our aim is to achieve a smooth transition with a new Head teacher in post from 1st January 2023.

The Governing Board would like to take this opportunity to thank James for his unswerving support and leadership.

With very best wishes

Yours sincerely

Jim Caulkett
Chair of Governors
